

Simon Abela Professional Summary 2022

Mr Simon T Abela His current role is as an Environmental and Sustainability Engineer with Molson Coors Brewery, Albany, Georgia. Professional Simon Abela holds a Bachelor of Science Cum Laude and a Master of Science Environmental Management and Health and Safety from Southern Columbia University. With more than 25 years of experience as an Environmental and Safety Professional. He brings experience as an Engineer and is a Subject Matter Expert (SME) in Hazardous Waste Management, Air, Water waste, and remediation.

Seven years of experience working for the U.S. Military Environmental projects in Europe and the Middle East.

Mr Abela has successfully created a business to serve clients in Regulatory Compliance, Pollution Prevention, and environmental stewardship. Mr Abela helped clients to obtain air permits and achieve strategic business goals by drawing upon his expert skills in regulatory analysis & negotiation

Mr Abela worked to resolve issues related to risks to human health. He is responsible for tracking emissions, hazardous waste management, and in-situ and ex-situ remediation projects, including heavy metals and hydrocarbons from soil and groundwater and hazardous waste for various Industries, including Oil and Gas and manufacturing facilities.

Mr Abela conducted other duties, including managing Health and Safety Programs in the manufacturing facilities, training, mentoring, Confined Space, and Recycling waste. Mr Abela has managed and contributed to s responsible for environmental and Health and Safety Programs throughout his career, including authoring several publications.

Air/Water Harvesters Operated with Renewable Energy, Oct. 2014 Commonwealth Environmental Investment Partner. CEIP-United Kingdom.

The Impact of New Wind Technology on Birds & Bats Population, Regenedyne LLC. Sept. 2014

Spatially-Explicit Structural Approaches to Measuring Hazard/Risk Assessment, Vulnerability, and Resilience, Mar. 2015, Journal of Geography and Natural Disaster U.K.

Professional Affiliations

Associate Safety & Health Management (ASHM) Certificate Number - 5415A
Project Management Institute, PMI